FARMVILLE.

It is right hard to realize how any christian of Farmville, who heard the Rev. R. H. Bennett, D. D. on his recent visit to our town, as representative of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League, can in the future endorse the dispensary as the solution of the liquor traffic. A community of men, women and children engaged in the saloon business presented no pleasing picture to the eyes of the gifted speaker, and he drew it in such repulsive colors as to make it essentially ugly in the eyes of all right-thinking people. "A city built with 'blood money' has God's woes resting on it," said the earnest man, and for the time being at least, those who heard him agreed with him. That it is the evil of all evils cannot be denied, but how to deal with it is an unsolved problem. Dr. Bennett said that the Anti-saloon men must have accomplished great things, but but he did not say that as a people we drank more last year than ever before in the history of the nation. Dr. Bennett made a great mistake when he said that the time would come when the liquor traffic would be considered as criminal, as murder or arson. Before this can be done there must be a new Bible, not that the Bible anywhere sanctions intemperance but that no where does the Bible enjoin prohibition. I often wonder that it did'nt but that it does no intelligent and fair-minded brother will contend. Dr. Bennett is a powerful and impressive speaker and our people heard him gladly.

A Farmville contractor has the building of the new Methodist church in hand. We make our own brick and build our own houses.

The Presbyterian church is receiving finishing touches and begins to present a most attractive appearance.

On some of our squares the shade is so dense that electric lights are shut out.

Some our representative farmers attended the Farmers' gathering at Roanoke, among them Mr. W. W. Jackson, who discussed milk selling For a number of years Mr. Jackson has supplied the State Female Normal and its boarding house with the purest and most milk and impressive address. Mr. T. O. Sandy, in my opinion the model farmer of Southside Virginia, no doubt contributed largely to the interest of the occasion. His grass lots and cattle will compare favorably with any in southwest Virginia. He long since decided that no white man could afford to cultivate a poor acre of ground.

During the absence of Dr. Holladay, on his wedding tour, Dr. Gills has been on double duty. No young physician of my knowledge has grown more rapidly in popular favor and there must be a brilliant and useful future before him.

The town doctor has a wide scope of country territory in these days to look after. There is'nt a practicing physician between Farmville and Buckingham or Cumberland Courthouse, and only one between this point and Charlotte Courthouse. Some of my country friends have told me that they have learned to do without the luxury. I regret, however, that such necessity exists anywhere in Virginia. Preachers, doctors, teachers and possibly lawyers should be in touch of all civilized people and I know of no presence more desirable than that of the doctor when there is sickness in the home. They may make mistakes but they "bury them" and we plant flowers upon them and send for them again.

Some few peaches from our local orchards have been selling in our market. In the olden day we had peaches in this section with every returning season, and now the exception is them. Is this no longer a peach growing section or are we no longer a peach-growing people? Something is wrong somewhere.

The summer Normal, which is being conducted here has been a most gratifying success and will no doubt be a fixed fact in the future history of the town. The conveniences for holding such schools cannot be surpassed in the Commonwealth. Dr. Hall, of William & Mary, who is in command, has won golden opinions from all who have been privileged to meet with him, whether in the lecture hall or in the social circle. Mrs. Hall is with him and Farmville has been made the brighter by reason of her cheerful and charming personality.

Prof. Bonham is also accompanied by Mrs. Bonham and Farmville is fortunate to have had the pleasure of welcoming them within her gates. Mrs. Bonham prior to her marriage was Miss Warren, and I believe from your county.

It was at one time thought that the farmers of Prince Edward would have kept alive the best features of the old county court days by meeting at the Courthouse on the 3rd Monday of each month to commune the one with the other and discuss measures of practical import. In not doing so they have made a mistake. The one weakness in the farming system of the country is found in the want of co-operation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Walker are pleasantly established in their new and elegant home.

The season is slipping by and Farmville has'nt as yet had an excursion. Maybe she is learning better.

Nature is in full summer dress and fields and gardens abound in luxurious growth but the old farmers are saying, "too much rain in early summer." In weather such as we have been having there is no need to be seeking cool places on mountain top and sea side.

We are learning that two livery stables are better than one, just as we have long since learned that two banks are better than one.

Mr. W. H. Ewing, our worthy county treasurer, has been on the sick list and has consulted a specialist in Richmond.

Our Board of Supervisors has not taken up the Jamestown appropriation. It is confidently believed, however, that they will make it. We as a county can not afford to neglect the opportunity. It will knock but once at our door.

What about the Appomattox battle park? Your people know no such word as failure, and if others abandon the project let them take it up themselves. True the South furled its banners there, but there was no stain upon one of them, and our great commander shone out more resplendently in the hour of defeat than he had ever done on field of supremest triumph. Our children's children may study the hour of surrender as well as of struggle with profit and uplift of soul. We have nothing to be ashamed of.

A Guaranteed Cure for Piles.

Itching, blind, bleeding, protruding piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days.

Perhaps that dog tax found in a can of Chicago meat, was placed there by a muck-raker's press agent.

The more John D.' Rockefeller thinks of that warrant waiting him in his, the better he likes Europe.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK

Urinary Trouble Makes You Miserable?

most everybody who reads the news is sure to know of the wonderful cures of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing sick kidneys, bladder, uric acid trouble, Bright's Disease, which is the worst of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the ladies who have used it, in cases of sickness in the home. Thus it has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and one dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

If you would reach the homes of the people in Southside Virginia, especially Appomattox and Buckingham counties, place your advertisement in this paper.

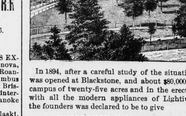
THE BLACKSTONE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS



In 1894, after a careful study of the situation, a Christian Training School for girls was opened at Blackstone, and about $80,000 has been expended in the purchase of the campus of twenty-five acres and in the erection of a massive brick building equipped with all the modern appliances of lighting, heating, Sanitation. The purpose of the founders was declared to be to give

"THOROUGH INSTRUCTION UNDER POSITIVE CHRISTIAN INFLUENCES AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST."

Instruction—The purpose has been carried out. Thorough instruction has been given, and the Blackstone students, in addition to the regular instruction given in the Seminaries, have received Normal training, all applicants for diplomas being required to take both Theoretical and Practical Pedagogy, including actual teaching in the Model School. The Blackstone certificate or diploma is recognized by educators as meaning what it says, and about five hundred teachers have shown the practical value of the work of the school.

Character—But at Blackstone, character is regarded as the student's most precious possession, and no pains have been known to be a critical times in the development of character. The greatest aim of the faculty is to direct and stimulate the development of the character of the students committed to their care. Direct contact of the pupils with the teacher is one of the greatest benefits of the school life, and hence the faculty at Blackstone all live in the building with the girls, and meet them not only in the class-room, but in every relation of the school life. The atmosphere of the school is wholesome, inspiring, and uplifting, and the influences are positively Christian.

Cost—The cost is less than at any other school in the State of equal grade. The annual rate is fifty dollars ($150) per session, pays for Board, Laundry, Medical Attendance and Tuition in all departments except Music and Elocution, which subjects are taught at correspondingly low rates. It has been the aim from the beginning to maintain a student body sufficiently large to give to parents the benefit of low rates for first-class instruction, but not too large for the Principal and his helpers to know each student and to give her individual care. This result has been attained. If you want your daughter to have thorough instruction under positive Christian influences at the lowest possible cost write for catalogue to JAMES CANNON, Jr., A. M., Blackstone, Va.

For the next session, twenty scholarships, worth $75.00 each, will be given to young ladies who are unable to meet the full expenses of the school, but who are sufficiently anxious for an education to be willing to assist the housekeeper in the care of the dining-room.

Buckingham.

The Buckingham branch of the A. S. E. met at Dill ryn and they had a picnic and no doubt transacted business of importance to the society, but I was at the Holiness meeting that day and heard a sermon from Rev. Mr. Morrison and one from Rev. J. W. Hypes. Rev. Mr. Bullard and his wife were there.

Mr. James Jone', who was for a week so critically ill was much better, and his brother, who had been waiting at his bedside seemed to be cry thankful. It was thot at one time that Mr. James Jones would have to be taken to Richmond to a hospital for treatment.

The new bank building at White Hall is nearing completion and will be a very creditable banking house.

Since the rains have become so frequent vegetables are to be had in plenty and tobacco is growing nicely.

Messrs. C. D. and W. E. McCraw are the Buckingham agents for the Stonewall Insurance Co. of Farmville and they are both hustlers and they will probably see you before the hail storm comes.

On the 2nd Sunday in Aug'st protracted meeting will begin at Enon Baptist church. If you never enjoyed the hospitality of these people, just attend this meeting and you will have a pleasant experience. The colored people near there will also be meeting at the same time, and the wise chicken will roost high.

It is certainly shameful to see men and boys under the influence of strong drink going to the Lord's house on the Lord's day. My little boy was at Dillwyn on Saturday and this is the drinking day there, and he kept watching men go behind houses and in the bushes and finally he saw one with a long bottle and then he knew what they were doing. It is said that a nefarious traffic is carried on at Dillwyn and near there, and those who talk and drink and vice versa, say that "the stuff" is a miserable adulteration and is sold at high prices. As the Farmville correspondent rightly says this liquor (?) is a hard one to settle, but it seems to me we may have to try the dispensary plan in self-defence.

A gentleman in Richmond writing to one of the daily papers complained that he could not hire a man in Richmond to cut the weeds out of his yard; and my little boy, hearing me read the article asked the practical question, "why don't he cut the weeds down himself?" We here have to cut whatever is cut or it goes undone. I have two good jobs awaiting some industrious man who can make good wages at either and I have told workmen of it, and that the money was ready to pay, but I get the same answer, "I hav'nt time."

The young people here have a tennis court and have begun to practice and the two societies among the ladies hold regular meetings and no matter how oflish the men may appear they go right along having a good social time and attend to business as well.

Mr. J. W. Hebditch, while attending the farmers' meeting at Dillwyn, suffered from an attack of apoplexy and had to remain there for several days.

The meeting at the Holiness tabernacle closed on the 19th.

A message from Columbus, Miss., reached here on Saturday carrying the sad intelligence that Miss Sallie Swoope had died there, and that her remains would be shipped here for burial. Miss Swoope had just graduated from St. Luke's in Richmond and had gone South to nurse her sister. Mabel, who had typhoid fever, when she was taken with the dread malady herself. Here, however, was considered a very mild case and she being cared for in a hospital by the best of medical skill and trained nurses, it was confidently expected that she would recover, and this, coupled with the fact that she was a great favorite with her home people, has plunged them into the deepest grief and the family have the deepest sympathy and every attention that love and esteem can suggest from their neighbors

Rev. Plummer F. Jones preached a fine sermon here on Sunday from Mark 12-34—"Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God." In vivid style did Mr. Jones show us just how near the kingdom some of us might be living and yet for failure to do these things needful for our salvation, we may fail to enter Heaven. There was an unusually large congregation out and the speaker had the strictest attention of his audience and was congratulated on the success of his early stay by many friends, and all had food for thought to take to their homes.

There are three new cases of fever at Dillwyn. Mr. Williams, who runs a livery and boarding house there is one of the patients.

A phone message came here on Sunday saying a man named McFadden had been killed on Grease Creek, in this county and asking that officers be sent to bring the murderer to jail.

Sheppards.

On the night of the 18th Miss Annie Phaup and brothers gave a most delightful lawn party, beginning at 3 o'clock and lasting until the 'wee sma' hours of the morning. Dancing and games of all kinds were enjoyed. The house was beautifully decorated with evergreens and cut flowers. A bountiful supper was served on a beautifully decorated table on the lawn. The music, furnished by Messrs. Birsch and Wilkerson, was good, and every body had a good time. Miss Annie made a charming hostess, gowned in white. Our only hope is that Mr. Phaup will soon see fit to give us another just such a time.

Buckingham Couple Married

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Inge, 607 Gum street the bride Miss Lavinia Fuqua Wright, daughter of Mr. W. H. We would like to endorse and add a little to something in the letter of your Hickory correspondent. Not the vicinity of that good old 'burg' alone, but all of 'old Appomattox' is indeed the garden spot of the world.' Nowhere are the skies so blue, the trees and grass so green, the songs of the birds so sweet, nor anything more delicious or invigorating than the breezes that blow straight from the Blue Ridge.

Carline Returns from Halifax.

The sun cast long, hot rays across a little ragged gate, the storm clouds were climbing high and higher in the west, the mudder of the thunder could be distinctly heard. A woman stood near the gate leaning against a tree that had been cleft by lightning years ago—yet the sturdy oak had refused to die and now furnished a back ground for the woman as she stood tearing in shreds a love letter, which was not her own. Carline had been to Halifax and during that time she had not heard a phone bell ring, so she had to amuse herself in some way.

And to read the weak sentamentalities of some other woman, when they had allowed their heart to overshadow their brain, furnished her more amusement than Buster Brown ever did his mother, with the dog thrown in.

Did'nt know I had been to nalifax? Well, now Mr. Editor where did you think I had been all this time? Yes sir, I just stayed here until you could trace silver threads among the gold, and the care lines on my, once fair brow, had deepened into gullyes. Is that the way to write gullyes? Don't care if it is'nt for any old farmer who reads this can just look at the gullys washed by the stormy rains of time and tell what I mean. Well I went to Brookneal to get the train, and as I had never been there before I was afraid the Mr. Conductor would not know I was there and there would not be seats enough for me and my lady friend to sit in so I just asked a Mr. Skeleton to step up the road and tell him not to let any more people get on the train, for Carline Caloway was there and wanted to ride with him, and to be sure and drive up close to the door, for it was muddy. Well he did all that and told some other man to hold that train and he jumped off and helped me on and asked me o sit down, and when I had got well seated he reached up and got hold the rope line and drove on, but I guess the team he was driving was balky for we would go a little ways then we would back back lots farther than we had ever seen. One time I got close enough to the place I was going to see what they were eating for supper, then started back, then my temper rose and I rose with it and stepped out in the isle with my umbrella and told that man if he could'nt drive them 'creeters' what some over they might be, any better than he was doing, to let me get at them and I would drive for him. Then a man who was used to driving went out on the chair steps and held to the railing and leaned out and hollered at them. Guess the team was his, at any rate he was a saw mill man and used to mules. Well I knew we would get along all right then, and came back and began to turn my attention to the scenery, when some one touched me on the shoulder and I looked around and they wanted me to read a letter from some one in Durham, N. C. She said it might be her son but it had no name signed to it. Look here said I, have you got one of them things too? One of what things, said she. Well if you don't know I'll tell you. I have had enough insults about such like, and I promise you the next one that bothers me about any thing of that kind has got to go to the courthouse and be examined and read them. But, said she, some one wrote me to come and see my son in N. C. and did'nt write me where he lived and they did'nt sign their name, so I just bought a ticket where this was post marked. Mighty right said I, you just keep on traveling by the post mark and you may reach heaven and you may not. Just then some one
